

A workshop in travel photography, conducted several times weekly in convenient Chicago locations. Our professional photographer will first give you a 40-minute orientation on good photography technique and explain what all those features on your camera do, especially the ones controlling F-stops, shutter speeds, white balance, and ISO.

At each point along the way, we will critique your photos as you are taking them, helping you to correct exposure, composition and white balance right on the spot, so that you can immediately see the effect of your own corrective measures. This hands-on training will give you invaluable photo techniques for your future travels.

Three-hour safari only $99, meets rain or shine. Bring your camera, all its lenses, no tripod. All skill levels invited, with any kind of camera, point and shoot or SLR.
